

CHICKENS Laugh Out Loud

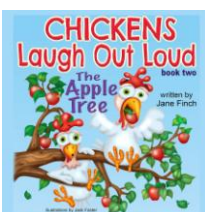

book two

The Apple Tree

written by
Jane Finch

illustrations by Jack Foster

The chickens on the chicken farm are getting into mischief again. They all descend on the apple tree and eat too many apples. Now they feel bad. They complain and moan until the farmer doses them up with medicine to make them feel better. Then what do they do? You'll have to find out, but as always with these chickens, it's not what you expect.
