

Rick Stepp-Bolling

HARRY and the
Beta Reader

A Young Adult author wants to try his hand at writing an adult novel, but he has no experience with romance. Desperate, he searches the Internet for a willing beta reader to give him some feedback on his manuscript. The only drawback, she charges $500.00, unless he can find a way to make her fall in love with his main character, an Aussie “James Bond” wannabe detective.
