

Pink Lily of the Valley

Convallaria Majalis Var. 'Rosea'

- ❁ Plants form a clump of large green leaves, bearing short spikes of fragrant baby-pink bells in late spring. Delightful and rather rare variation on an old-fashioned favourite.
- ❁ Clumps take a year or two to establish, then spread at a steady pace, in time forming a sizeable patch.
- ❁ Tolerant of poor soils, even dry shade, but prefers a rich, moist soil. Protect from afternoon sun. Plants sometimes become dormant in summer.
- ❁ Wonderfully fragrant ground cover for shady areas

Height: 6-8 Inches

Zone: 2

Partial Sun

Full Shade

Moist, Well-Drained

Cut Flower/Foliage

