

NIGHT NOISES

by Lisa Beere
Illustrations by Lynn Costelloe

Sam is a young child who can't sleep, distracted by the many noises of the night. Each family member attempts to help him. Eventually, his Nan discovers the issue and sister Junie comes to the rescue with a solution that reassures Sam of how much he is safe and loved. This story will appeal to children who have concerns about being alone in the dark and those older ones that will be sleeping 'away' for the first time.

While written as a picture book this text is also accessible as an early reader.
